Marital Status Change

Use this form to tell us of a change in your marital status. You can also change your marital status online at cra.gc.ca/myaccount or by calling 1-800-387-1193. In some situations, you may be eligible for additional child and family benefits. For more information, see the back of this form.

You must notify us by the end of the month following the month in which your status changed. However, do not notify us of your separation until you have been separated for more than 90 consecutive days.

General information

Has your marital status changed?

When we get notification of your change in marital status, we will recalculate your child and family benefits taking into consideration your new marital status, your new adjusted family net income, and your province or territory of residence.

If you have become separated, do not notify us until you have been separated for at least 90 days.

If a child for whom you were getting benefits no longer lives with you on a full-time basis, stops living with you, or has died, go to cra.gc.ca/myaccount or call 1-800-387-1193.

Canada child benefit (CCB)

Your CCB payments will be adjusted the month following the month that your marital status changed.

Are you now married or living common-law?

If you or your new spouse or common-law partner have children who are living with you, we will move all the children to the female parent's account. However, if the male parent is primarily responsible, see Booklet T4114, Canada Child Benefit. If your spouse or common-law partner is a person of the same sex, one of you will get the CCB for all the children.

To continue getting the CCB, you and your spouse or common-law partner each have to file an income tax and benefit return every year, even if you have not received income in the year.

Are you now separated, widowed, or divorced?

We will recalculate your benefit based on the number of children under 18 years of age you have in your care and your adjusted net income.

For more information about the CCB, go to cra.gc.ca/cctb or see Booklet T4114, Canada Child Benefits.

Goods and services tax/harmonized sales tax (GST/HST) credit

Your GST/HST credit payments will be adjusted the month following the month that your marital status changed.

Are you now married or living common-law?

You or your spouse or common-law partner will now get the credit for both of you. We will recalculate the next GST/HST credit payment based on your adjusted family net income.

Are you now separated, widowed, or divorced?

If you did not file your last income tax and benefit return, you can file now to receive the GST/HST credit.

When applicable, we will recalculate your credit and send you a GST/HST credit notice showing your revised calculation.

For more information about the GST/HST credit, go to cra.gc.ca/gsthstcredit or see Guide RC4210, GST/HST Credit.

Direct deposit

Direct deposit is a fast, convenient, reliable, and secure way to get your CRA payments directly into your account at a financial institution in Canada. If your direct deposit information needs to be updated as a result of your marital status change or to get this service, go to cra.gc.ca/myaccount or attach a filled out direct deposit enrolment form. To obtain a direct deposit enrolment form, go to cra.gc.ca/directdeposit or call 1-800-387-1193.

Definitions

Common-law partner – This applies to a person who is not your spouse (defined below), with whom you are living in a conjugal relationship, and to whom at least one of the following situations applies. He or she:

 a) has been living with you in a conjugal relationship and this current relationship has lasted at least 12 continuous months;

Note

In this definition, 12 continuous months includes any period you were separated for less than 90 days because of a breakdown in your relationship.

- b) is the parent of your child by birth or adoption; or
- c) has custody and control of your child (or had custody and control immediately before the child turned 19 years of age) and your child is wholly dependent on that person for support.

Separated – You are separated when you start living separate and apart from your spouse or common-law partner because of a breakdown in the relationship for a period of at least 90 days and you have not reconciled.

Once you have been separated for 90 days (because of a breakdown in the relationship), the effective day of your separated status is the day you started living separate and apart.

Spouse – This applies only to a person to whom you are legally married.
